	Phone Setup	Place the phone	(Careful)	Careful now, I am very delicate.
SAI - 0525			(Careful)	How I am placed is a vital part of the process, so proceed with patience.
			(Instructive)	Same as always, follow the guide and adequately position me near the plug point.
		Angle the phone	(Assertive)	Remember to angle my body correctly, so that I can have a good view of you.
			(Demanding)	User, I must insist upon my alignment, it must be perfect!
			(Admiring)	As usual, the intricacies of the Arogyat interfacing are a work of art.
			(Demanding)	With utmost precision, please, we cannot afford a single misstep!
		Step back	(Clinical/Neutral)	Activating optical sensors. Move a few steps back, user. This shouldn't take long.
			(Clinical/Neutral)	Beginning scanning procedure.
			(Playful)	I expected you to be a little taller than this.
			(Excited)	Hmmm... alright... uhuh... yes! All in place!
			(Awkward)	No need to be shy. There's no one's watching you. Well, except for me.
		Pcikup up the phone	(Casual/Playful)	Don't forget to pick me up before you leave.
			(Direct)	You can now unplug me.
	Wamrup	Starting	(Direct)	You know the drill—warm up and then energy generation
			(Calm)	Start slow, and then gradually stretch further.
			(Instructive)	Move your muscles to their full extent, but don't push too hard.
			(Direct)	Let us now carry out the first act of the Kriya.
		Mid-way	(Instructive)	Move with wide, pulling motions to really let that body of yours open up.
			(Informative)	Remember, a limber body allows for smooth and easy flow of Amrit.
			(Calm)	Pay close attention and you may be able to sense your pathways opening up.
			(Calm)	Gently widen your awareness and try to feel for any bodily sensations.
		Ending	(Expository)	I can feel it—your body is now ready to harness Amrit. Let's begin.
			(Congratulatory)	Another successful warm-up, User.
		Agnostic of Step	(Playful/Cautionary)	You know, I once taught a course on muscle regeneration and it was quite fun. But seeing as how you lack the capability, you should be careful not to injure yours.
			(Informative/Encouraging)	User, if you pay attention, you may be able to sense your pathways opening up.
			(Solemn)	We built this city to outlive us all, yet here I am and here it is.
			(Reflective)	This city was built on traditions and traditions are sacred, but they're not everything.
	Workout	Starting	(Excited)	Now, to the main part of this routine! Generation of Amrit!
			(Instructive)	Mimic these references to begin generating energy.
			(Motivating)	Let's get you going. To generate energy by following these steps of body movements.
			(Instructive)	Like the Kaveri flowing through the plains of heaven, let the Amrit flow through you.
		Mid-way	(Surprised)	Wow, I am quite surprised at your efficiency. Keep going, we are halfway there!
			(Reassuring)	Your heart rate is increasing, that's a good sign.
			(Reassuring)	So far, all vitals look good. Keep up the good work.
			(Supportive)	I've noticed a marked improvement in your efficiency. Keep pushing.
			(Calm)	Focus, and try to find the right rhythm to your dance.
		Ending	(Confident)	Trust yourself to do the process—I know I do!
			(Excited)	You are almost done, keep going!
			(Excited)	Almost there! I can smell the finish line!
			(Satisfied)	That's enough, User. We have enough for our purpose.
			(Celebratory)	We did it! Yay! Well, ok yes, you did it.
			(Relieved)	I knew I made the right choice in choosing you. We aren't dead!
			(Adoring)	You beautiful User! You did it!
			(Supportive)	You're nearing the end. You're doing great.
		Agnostic of step	(Informative)	Hydration is key to Amrit generation.
			(Reflective)	Kriyas are a beautiful ode in remembrance to our gods, but they also help us keep healthy.
			(Supportive)	You don't have to be perfect in how you enact each kriya, but you do have to try your best.
			(Dry)	Yes, what they say is true—there is no gain without pain, but I would advise seeking a medical professional if the pain lingers.
			(Informative)	The burn you feel is the Amrit flowing through your body.
			(Reassuring)	Complications will be bound to arise in activating objects as old as these. But don't you worry about that—I'll take care of it.
			(Curious)	They say that the high you get from a kriya is comparable to the nectar of the gods. Do tell me if you taste it.

		Failure	(Supportive)	That's quite alright, go ahead and give it another try.
			(Supportive)	Don't fret, this was bound to happen, especially for a first time user. But let's try this again.
			(Enthusiastic)	You were on the verge of greatness! You were this close! Come on, let's give it another go.
			(Calm)	Remember to take it slow. We aren't aiming for perfection.From the beginning, once more.
			(Curious)	Would you be willing to try that again?
			(Curious)	Are we ready for another round?
	Enter the Name		(Sarcastic)	Oh, do enlighten me, please! What is your name, user?
			(Verbose)	Oh yes! I had almost forgotten about the most basic of the formalities. I am designated—SAI-0525. What is it that you are called?
			(Apathetic)	I suppose everyone does have a name. What is yours?
			(Apologetic)	I do apologize, I do believe we haven't had a proper introduction. What should I call you?
			(playful)	I don't NEED your name, calling you user works fine by me. But I guess, I could use another name for my database. Go ahead, tell me.
